

Brazil Airports and Aviation Integration Program

Client:

U.S. Trade and Development Agency

In April 2009, the KED Group was selected by the US Trade and Development Agency (USTDA) to assess potential airport projects in three states of Brazil: Rio Grande do Sul, Ceara and Piaui.

Scope of Work:

Assessment of airport and aviation –related projects

The mission, aimed at establishing the technical and financial viability of the proposed activities, consisted of the evaluation of projects ranging from a small airports network in Rio Grande do Sul to establishing new passenger and cargo airports at several locations in the Northeast. Among others, the team was tasked with assessing the level of US interest in the projects and promote US products and services.

Project Tasks:

- ◆ Technical Analysis
- ◆ Assessment of Project Viability
- ◆ Development of TORs, and budgets

The team will travel to Brazil in early June.
